

In my house one of my problems I faced was rats. I buyed glue traps. I prefer this technique because it is one of the most effective ways to get rid off the rodents.

There was other alternatives such as poisoning them through the foods rat likes and dumbing those foods to the locations he feels the most save and the other locations which are exposed like the center of the kitchen. Mostly I don't choose this technique because after poisoning the rats if you are lucky enough to find his corpse you would need to dig a small grave for him which actually demands more energy (this is the best scenario). if you don't dig him a grave and just throw away him out, it's mostly likely that a cat might eat the corpse and eventually die for that because of the poisonous rodent corpse.

The other scenarios I leave it for the readers to describe.

Once a time in every year I annihilated all of the adult rats and some minor ones. I was using the glue trap technique and I removed the mouse from the glue, then eliminated it using rocks. After that I give their corpses to the cats.

but in just few months. I see another rats which are younger and has more courage than the previous ones. They become so brave. This story is real story.

[Thanks for reading it. I was practicing my English writing skills. Still there are rooms for improvement.]

In my house, one of the problems I face is rats. I buy glue traps. I prefer this technique because it is one of the most effective ways to get rid of the rodents.

There are other alternatives, such as poisoning them through the foods rats like and placing those foods in the locations they feel the safest and other locations that are exposed, like the center of the kitchen. I don't choose this technique because after poisoning the rat, if I am lucky enough to find his corpse, I would need to dig a small grave for him, which actually demands more of my energy (this is the best scenario). If I don't dig him a grave and just throw him out, it's likely that a cat will eat the poisoned corpse and eventually die.

I will leave the other scenarios for the reader to imagine.

Once a year, I annihilate all of the adult rats and some young ones. I use the glue trap technique. I remove the rats from the glue, then eliminate them using rocks. After that, I give their corpses to the cats.

But in just a few months, I will see more rats that are younger and have more courage than the previous ones. They become so brave. This is a true story.

* * *

In my house one of ~~my~~ the problems I ~~faced~~ ~~was~~ face is rats. I ~~buyed~~ buy glue traps. I prefer this technique because it is one of the most effective ways to get rid ~~off~~ of the rodents.

There was other alternatives, such as poisoning them through the foods ~~rat likes~~ rats like and ~~dumbing~~ placing those foods ~~to in~~ the locations ~~he feels the most safe~~ they feel the safest and the other locations ~~which~~ that are exposed, like the center of the kitchen. ~~Mostly~~ I don't choose this technique because after poisoning the ~~rats~~ rat, if ~~you are~~ I am lucky enough to find his corpse, ~~you~~ I would need to dig a small grave for him, which actually demands more of my energy (~~this is the best scenario~~). if ~~you~~ I don't dig him a grave and just throw ~~away~~ him out, it's ~~mostly~~ likely that a cat ~~might will~~ eat the poisoned corpse and eventually die ~~for that because of the poisonous rodent corpse~~.

I will leave ~~it~~ the other scenarios for the ~~readers~~ reader to ~~describe~~ imagine.

Once a ~~time in every~~ year, I ~~annihilated~~ annihilate all of the adult rats and some ~~minor~~ young ones. I ~~was using~~ use the glue trap technique, ~~and I removed~~ remove the ~~mouse~~ rats from the glue, then eliminated ~~it~~ them using rocks. After that, I give their corpses to the cats.

~~but~~ But in just a few months, I will see ~~another~~ more rats ~~which~~ that are younger and ~~has~~ have more courage than the previous ones. They become so brave. This ~~story~~ is a real true story.

(light copyedit + revise confusing or convoluted passages, verify and revise factual errors, query and/or fix faults in organization, plot holes, and gaps in logic)

One of the problems I face in my house is rats.

I prefer to use glue traps because they are an effective way to catch the rodents. I don't like poisoning their food because if I am lucky enough to find the poisoned corpse, I need to bury it. If I just throw it away, a cat will likely eat the poisoned corpse. Then the cat will eventually die.

I will leave the other scenarios to the reader's imagination.

Once a year, I annihilate all of the adult rats, and some young ones, using glue traps. I remove the rats from the glue and kill them with a rock. Then I can safely give their corpses to the cats.

But in just a few months, I will see more rats, younger and more courageous than the previous ones.

This is my true story.

* * *

~~In my house, one~~ One of the problems I face ~~in my house~~ is rats.

~~I buy glue traps. I prefer this technique to use glue traps because it is one of the most they are an effective ways way to get rid of catch the rodents.~~

~~There are other alternatives, such as poisoning them through the foods rats like and placing those foods in the locations they feel the safest and other locations that are exposed, like the center of the kitchen. I don't choose this technique because after poisoning the rat I don't like poisoning their food because, if I am lucky enough to find his the poisoned corpse, I would need to dig a small grave for him, which actually demands more of my energy (this is the best scenario) bury it. If I don't dig him a grave and just throw him out it away, it's likely that a cat will likely eat the poisoned corpse. and Then the cat will eventually die.~~

I will leave the other scenarios ~~for to the reader reader's to imagine~~ imagination.

Once a year, I annihilate all of the adult rats, and some young ones, ~~I use the using glue trap technique traps. I remove the rats from the glue, then eliminate and kill them using rocks with a rock. After that Then, I can safely give their corpses to the cats.~~

But in just a few months, I will see more rats, ~~that are~~ younger and ~~have more~~ courageous than the previous ones.

~~They become so brave.~~ This is ~~real~~ my true story.